It seems that law and officers ly. Chester Stowe is the latest letim of the deadly, ready gun-Since the day of the State promary, Aug. 7th, there have been ten men killed in this county all by gun fire. Last someone question this statement, we will give the names of those killed Bert Wallace, Waiter Allison, Judge W. A. Naylor, Willie Collins, Claude Johnson Earl Lee Chester Showe, all white men; and the following negroes: unknown negro killed on Lee Line boat, Arthur Maddox and Buster Smy den. This is, an appailing mum ber of killings for the length of time; especially in the smallest county of the State and worse still, all in the west end, except one, the negro Slayden, killed by the police of Fulton. In most suses, rotten whiskey and good revolvers are the prime causes of the murders. Both the bootleyger and the gun-toter are danhave a law to make both crimes of such magnitude that the offen ders could not get off with less the court inform the Courier that tiary. Some drastic action must be taken or the situation will besome worse and worse. Bloody Breathitt is becoming known as little money as is necessary to do a quiet, civilized county compared with the reputation we are getting abroad. Of the two, statistics prove Fulton county the worst. Shall we let it continue?

It seems that a recent order of the Fiscal Court concerning road work in this county has been entirely misconstrued. In justice to the members of the court and as a matter of information, it might be said this order was solely for the purpose of getting the greatest amount of improvement for the least amount of money. In substance, the order makes it necessary for any one doing road work to first get authority from the magistrate of his district; then go shend. The idea seems gerous men. Kentucky ought to to have gone out that the court was letting up on road work, but such is not the case. Members or than five years in the peniten of all times, now is the time they want to work the highways- get them in shape for winter. This they want to do, however, for us the work right. The new order merely places the road work on a business system. As the taxpayers look to the magistrates and county judge for results, it is on ly right that they should have the matter well in hand and know be fore the work is done (instead of afterwards, as under the old system, what ought to be done and what it will cost. The only change in the road improvement campaign is that road workers must first get the O. K. of the magistrate of the district before
